BIOGRAPHY

Landon's passion for performing and love of making audiences laugh originated in his grandparents dining room, as he performed holiday skits for relatives. Today, Landon is known for being one of the youngest working ventriloquists performing for children's, family, and corporate audiences. Aside from performing, Landon spends his downtime working meticulously on professional custom character orders at his puppet building company, The Original Dummy.

Through studying the past of the performance art, and it's many leading figures, Landon has established his own style, he presents, when he meets the spotlight. Several aspects set Landon apart from many performers. Landon, as a writer and artist, is constantly looking for what he can do to advance his career in the entertainment industry. His cast of characters is constantly evolving and he strives to develop a show that merges clean comedy with audience involvement for an unforgettable experience.

Landon is also known for being flexible in creating the perfect show for his clients. Landon says two things: he doesn't just put on a show, he puts on a performance. And, in creating laughter for every audience he performs for, he knows the stage is where he belongs.
